Investment strategy

The strategy, employing our proprietary algorithm, Kyna, for a market-neutral approach, maintains a net-zero exposure to the stock market. By leveraging Kyna, which specializes in analyzing relative strength, our strategy meticulously selects investments to achieve a neutral position, combining long positions in individual stocks with short positions in indices. This approach aims to profit regardless of overall market direction by capturing relative movements between individual stocks and broad market indices, offering investors a diversified portfolio designed to mitigate market risk. Thus, this strategy provides investors with a reliable avenue for capital appreciation in all market conditions.
